HISTORY OF THE HAINES FAMILY

Written by Nathan Haines (born 1813
died 1886

Tradition says that about the time that Wm. Penn settled in Penn., two brothers came from England by the name of Haines. One of them settled in New Jersey and the other in Pennsylvania. The one that settled in New Jersey died quite young leaving two sons Vincent and Joseph who were raised by strangers.

Vincent in the time of the Revolutionary War drank water from a well that had been poisoned by the Hessian soldiers and died from its effects leaving no heirs.

Joseph Haines married a lady by the name of Mary Beulah Andrews. Of the Andrews I know nothing except they were very prominent and very large and strong men. Joseph settled in Frederick County, Virginia, about the year 1770 or perhaps a little earlier where he raised a family of nine children, six boys and three girls. Their names - Patience, who never married and lived to be quite old; Elizabeth, who married John Elkins (they always called him Jack). This proved to be an unpleasant union, for they separated in a few years. Mary married Joseph Painter.

Ebenezer, the subject of this sketch, was born May 4, 1770. I do not know the dates of the other births. Joseph became demented while a young man and remained so at periods through a long life. Nathan settled in Green County, Ohio, and married Elizabeth Woolman. Vincent lived a bachelor all his life and died at a ripe old age. Jesse married a lady by the name of Silvers and died while on the road moving to Missouri before reaching the meridian of life.

Ebenezer Haines was married to Rebecca Berry February 14, 1799. Of her ancestors I know but little. Her father's name was Francis Berry, who served as captain in Braddock's war. His father, Joseph Berry, ran a ferry on the river known as Berry's Ferry, now Berryville. Francis married Mary Hampton. They raised a large family. I do not know the number nor all their names but there were Joseph, William, George, and Benjamin. Benjamin died a young man. Of the girls: my mother, Rebecca, was the eldest, Nancy, Susanna, Sidney, Isabella and Judith. If there were any more I have forgotten their names. The family adhered to the Baptist Church. The Haines family were Quakers.

Francois Berry was esteemed of the first families of Virginia and a slave holder.

After the marriage of my parents, they settled in the neighborhood and remained until about the year 1803. They removed to Columbiana County, Ohio, and settled near Salem. Three children were born in Virginia: Mary, March 24, 1800; Anna, June 6, 1801; Elizabeth, December 14, 1802. They were born in Columbiana County: Susanna February 26, 1805; Rebecca, April 6, 1807; Sidney, June 17, 1809; Joseph, August 6, 1811; Nathan, October 25, 1813; and Sarah, January 19, 1816. In the spring of 1816 they moved to Fayette County, Ohio. In this place were three more born. James, April 26, 1818; Beulah, June 24, 1820; and Samuel, November 18, 1827.

In the year 1832 the family were attacked with milk sickness. The effect of using poison milk and butter, a disease with which that country was infested alike destructive to man and beast. Sidney, after twelve days of suffering, died July 12, 1832, the first death in the family. She was an amiable, exemplary young lady. Mary (Polly) was married to John Fisher June 4, 1818, and died in 1875.

Anna was married to William Pierson July 9, 1823 and died February 10, 1847, Rebecca Haines (the mother) died February 18, 1846. -Ebenezer Haines (the father) died September 9, 1850. Elizabeth died April 26, 1828, unmarried. Sarah was married to James McAdams February 13, 1834. Nathan was married to Sarah Edwards December 25, 1834. Susannah was married to Ludlum Pierson December 22, 1836. James was married to Nancy Williams Smith November 12, 1840. Joseph was married to Martha Douglas. Beulah was married to Charles Smith January 9, 1845 and died March 11, 1879. Samuel was married to Maria Smith December 27, 1849.

Father was a remarkably stout man, common weight 200 pounds, was strictly honest, despised a mean thing but a poor financier and in his young days was often overcome with the tempting bowl, but for the last twenty-five years of his life he abstained from the use of intoxicative drinks. For several years before his death he lost his mind to some extent and became as a little child. Mother was afflicted for several years before her death with rheumatism and disease of the kidneys and spine and had to use crutches. She was a kind and affectionate Mother and wife, strongly attached to her family, ever ready to soothe the sufferings of her fellow creatures. She was an exemplary character in the neighborhood and devoted member of the Methodist Church and a true Christian. She retained a sound mind to the last.

Nathan Haines was born October 25, 1813 and was married to Sarah Edwards December 25, 1834. She was born February 6, 1816 and died November 6, 1844.

Joseph Berry Haines was born January 9, 1836 and died January 3, 1863. Eliza, May 25, 1838, Samuel E., November 18, 1832, William September, 1842, Sarah Jane September 20, 1844 and died July 12, 1896, Rowena Berryhill, born May 2, 1824, married to Nathan Haines September 2, 1845. Rebecca E. was born May 19, 1846 and lived two days. Lewis Haines was born October 21, 1848, Susannah May 30, 1851 and died of small pox July 3, 1851. Violinda May 4, 1852 and lived one day. Henry, February 28, 1853, lived three days. Rowena Haines died March 10, 1853.

Nathan Haines was married to Sarah Patterson August 15, 1853. Leander James was born May 29, 1854. Lucetta Ann was born October 3, 1857 and died September 21, 1866. Nathan Fremont, October 10, 1856, Sidney Celina November 13, 1858, Clarabelle September 13, 1861. Elias Norton January 23, 1865, Eugene born October 7, 1860 and died November 23, 1860, Clarabelle died April 26, 1882, Sarah Patterson Haines was born January 22, 1873.

Joseph Berry Haines was married to Sarah E. Levengood. Eliza Haines was married to Pierson H. Zimmerman October 21, 1860. Samuel E. Haines was married to Laura Richardson March 7, 1861. Sarah F. was married to John Dorman March 7, 1866. William left home at the age of seventeen October 1859, and his whereabouts are still unknown. Lewis Haines was married to Eliza Grimm April 13, 1871. Leander Haines was married to Frances Shaffer February 1879. Fremont W. Haines was married to Agnes McArthur.

Nathan Haines died June 27, 1886. Sarah December 31, 1889. Lucetta Sept. 21, 1866. Eugene November 29, 1860. Clarabelle April 26, 1882, Sarah Jane Dorman died July 12, 1896. ERRY - HAMPTON

From "Clarke County, or Frederick Co., a daughter of Frederick", by Rose McDonald:

"The first record of the Berry name in Frederick county is the purchase of land by Joseph Berry of King George county from Thomas Ashby of King William county in 1770, also the ferry rights over the Potomac. Thos Ashby had acquired the land in 1757 from Frederick Fishback, who held it on grant from Lord Fairfax." p. 37.

"P. 3, John Smith sold a portion of his inheritance to Benjamin Berry, who divided a portion of his purchase into lots and named the new-born town Berryville."
